This typewritten document states that, according to statistics of the Ministry of Communications, the length of new highways built in Hungary during 1950 totaled 545 kilometers. The foregoing new mileage is composed of:

155 kilometers with concrete surface
120 " " asphalt	"	"	"
270 " " macadam	"	"	"

Source adds that only 300 kilometers of the new highways were designed for civilian traffic. The rest of the highways built in 1950 comprises exclusively military roads, the plans of which are kept secret.
